DIRKS SPEAKS TO STUDENTS ON ECONOMICS

DPU GRAD DIRECTOR OF INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS FOR PERFECT CIRCLE

Howard M. Dirks, director of industrial relations for the Perfect Circle Company of Hagerstown, told DePauw University economics students Friday afternoon that the field of personnel management is becoming more important and more challenging every day. Dirks, son of Prof. Louis H. Dirks, DePauw's dean of men, was the second speaker in a series which brings outstanding men in industry, finance, and labor relations to the campus to speak before economics groups.

The personnel director must have executive ability, a practical mind, a keen sense of fair play, understanding of human nature, a firm sense of values, an ability to express himself, and resourcefulness, Dirks said. The field has developed, he continued, because of recognition by management of the economic importance of intelligent, enlightened leadership, because of large organizations, higher educational level of workers, growth of labor unions and collective bargaining, and the increase in labor legislation.

Because the field is relatively new, he said, it offers many openings for men and women and the best access to the personnel field is through the operating organization.

Dirks' talk followed an earlier one by J. E. Cain, executive vice-president of P. R. Mallory and Company, Indianapolis. The next scheduled speaker is James D. Strickland, district director of the OPA, who will come to DePauw on May 16.

Mr. Dirks' assistant at Perfect Circle is Irving B. Lacy, a DePauw graduate in 1941 and well known on the campus as editor of the student newspaper. Wage Administration Manager is Edward S. Green, and Group Insurance Supervisor is F. W. Trittich, both of whom attended DePauw.

Dean Dirks was host at an informal meeting of faculty members with his son Friday night.

Gobin Church To Receive Chimes

A tower amplification and chimes system will be installed in Gobin Memorial Church as a memorial to George R. Longale, former DePauw student who died on October 12, 1943. The memorial is being given by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben W. Longale, Mt. Clemens, Mich. In announcing the gift, Dr. John Tennant, pastor of Gobin Memorial Church, stated that this gift will be a serviceable memorial to a DePauw student who did outstanding scholastic work and who regularly attended the church.

Young Longale was a member of the class of 1946 and was a sophomore at the time of his death.

WAR BOND PLAY

One of the features of the meeting for the 7th War Loan chairman and vice chairman to be held at 8 p. m. Monday, May 7, in the Presbyterian church, will be a war bond play, presented by the Speech Department of DePauw University.

According to John Earnshaw, 7th War Loan chairman, township and county quotas will be announced at this time and supplies will be distributed.

THE WORLD WAS TO BE THEIRS, THEY THOUGHT

Beneath the gates of Berlin's historic Brandenburger gate, march the troops of Nazi Germany but five years have changed their cadence from a cocky goosestep to a battle-battered shuffle. It was 1940, and German Minister of propaganda Joseph Goebbels reviewed the parade, top photo, exclaiming in a speech that highlighted the triumphant return of the "supermen" from the western front, "there is one more battle to win—Great Britain." The lower photo is evidence that that battle was never won. It is May, 1945, and beneath the famous gate march Germany's defeated soldiers—prisoners of the Russian forces who captured the Nazi capital. (Radiophoto and International Soundphoto.)

Class Play By Local Seniors

Performing before a well-filled auditorium Friday night, a cast composed of 1945 graduates of the Greencastle high school presented the annual senior class play, "Best Foot Forward."

Action centered around Bud, portrayed by Charles Bamberger, a young cadet, who had a hard time making up his mind as to just which girl he would take to the annual school dance. The parts of the girls were excellently played by Maxine Leslie and Norma Jean Peabody.

The story was fast and funny and the young cadets at the school kept the audience laughing, consequently there was never a dull moment.

Jap Planes Sink Five U. S. Ships

GUAM, May 5—(UP)—American Superfortresses struck another heavy blow today at the bases of Japanese suicide planes which helped to sink five more light U. S. surface ships at Okinawa.

The fleet units were sunk in a joint attack by Japanese suicide planes and boats yesterday, shortly after approximately 600 enemy troops attempted four amphibious landings on Okinawa in a futile effort to cut behind the American 10th Army.

A front dispatch said that more than half of the Japanese landing forces were wiped out while they waded through the shallow water on the east and west coasts.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz said the landing attempt on the east coast above Yonabaru was completely repulsed and the Japanese who got ashore on two west coast three points north of Naha were immediately pocketed and were being destroyed.

The Superfortresses attack on the Japanese homeland was a double-raid with the big bombers.

ALLIED FLIERS AND WARSHIPS AID AUSSIES

BLAST PATH INTO CAPITAL OF TARKAN FOR AUSTRALIANS

MANILA, May 4—(UP)—Allied bombers and warships blasted a path today for Australian troops driving toward the heart of Tarkanan city on Tarkanan island off the east coast of Borneo.

Japanese gun emplacements, ammunition dumps and numerous buildings were destroyed by the dual bombardment as the Australians swept through the western part of the city.

The military barracks and the important water supply installations in western Tarkanan were captured by the Australian troops, who were meeting desperate Japanese opposition from mortar and machine-gun fire.

Front reports said the Australian drive on the island's airfield, northeast of the Lingkas beachhead, was being hampered by an extensive system of electrically-controlled land mines. The troops, however, secured all high ground around the edge of the airfield.

About 50 Liberator bombers again pounded Borneo's airfields in neutralization attacks aimed at preventing interference with the unloading operations at the Tarkanan beachhead.

American F-T boats also ranged through the sea lanes between Borneo and Celebes sinking two Japanese transports of 3,000 tons each, six freighters, seven river boats, two tugs and a number of small craft.

The Mindanao campaign was rapidly approaching a climax. Troops of the 24th Division were rapidly clearing Davao city against resistance described as "not very heavy."

Other American troops also pushed east and north of Davao, with one column reaching Santa Ana, just above the city, and a second at Mintal, two miles from Libby airfield.

In the interior, nearly 50 miles east of Davao, elements of the 31st Division advanced another 14 miles northward and captured the road junction of Kibawe, 35 miles above Kabakan.

Filipino guerrilla forces meantime cleared the Japanese from entire Surigao province at the northeastern tip of Mindanao, opening a number of good harbors for Allied shipping. The province is just across Surigao strait from American-held Leyte Island.

In northern Luzon, the 33rd Division completed mopping up of the Baguio area and seized the villages of Antamok and Ilogon, six miles east of the city, and Acops more than five miles to the north.

V-E DAY COMING

Although General Eisenhower declared Friday that the German army had been thoroughly whipped, it did not make Friday V-E Day.

Despite the capitulation of all German troops in northwest Germany, Holland and Denmark and mass surrenders elsewhere Friday, there still are large German forces in Norway and in the Czechoslovak-Austrian pocket.

Moreover, supreme Allied headquarters disclosed several days ago that V-E day, when it comes, will be proclaimed by chiefs of state of the Allied governments and not by Gen. Eisenhower.

Report Hitler's Body Concealed

LONDON, May 5—(UP)—Adolf Hitler's body has been hidden so well that it never will be found, Nazi propagandist Hans Fritzsche told his Russian captors today.

Radio Moscow said Fritzsche, deputy German propaganda minister taken prisoner in Berlin, asserted that the Fuehrer's corpse had been concealed in an "undiscovered place."

Neither Hitler's body nor that of propaganda minister Paul Joseph Goebbels has been found in Berlin, Moscow said. Red Army troops who attempted to search the ruined Reichschancellery in Berlin were beaten back by raging fires.

But two other prize Nazis have fallen into American hands: Dr. Wilhelm Frick, German minister without portfolio, Reichspräsident of Bohemia and Moravia and Heinrich Himmler's predecessor as Interior Minister. Max Amann, deputy to Himmler, chief of the Nazi party publishing department and publisher of Mein Kampf.

NAZIS TROOPS SURRENDER IN DENMARK, HOLLAND, NORTHWESTERN GERMANY

By United Press
A Blue network broadcast today quoted a Paris radio broadcast as saying that Reichscommissar Josef Terboven has ordered the surrender of German forces in Norway.

By United Press
Fuehrer Admiral Karl Doenitz called on German armies in Austria, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia today to continue the battle "to save as many Germans as possible from Bolshevization and enslavement."

By United Press
The Nazi radios at Wilhelmshaven and Bremen announced that the armistice in northwest Germany went into effect at 3 p. m. German time (2 a. m. EWT) today.

The stations said "another official announcement about the armistice" would be broadcast at 11 a. m. German time.

The broadcasts, recorded by the FCC, said:
"It is exactly 8 a. m. at this minute, an armistice comes into force in our area. The population of the Gau Weser Ems is asked to maintain exemplary calm, order and discipline, which it has shown so far."

"At 11 a. m. this morning, there will be another official announcement about the armistice. The stations Wilhelmshaven on 122.6 meters and Bremen on 295.8 meters will continue to broadcast uninterruptedly."

MARSHAL MONTGOMERY'S HEADQUARTERS, May 5—(UP)—"The war is all over, boys," was the jubilant Tommy's reaction as news spread through the British ranks of the surrender of a million Germans in Holland, Denmark, and northern Germany.

"When do our V-day leaves for Old Blighty start?" the troops wanted to know. They said they knew surrender was in air "after seeing all those masses of Germans passing into our lines and surrendering on all sides. We knew it was the collapse of the Wehrmacht. They couldn't fight on. Now it's a walkover."

This indeed was "the moment," as Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery called it when he signed the surrender agreement with the Germans here on Luneberg Heath at 6:30 p. m. last night. The formal ceremony was in a tent on the moorland here, a tent atop which a British flag flew in the cold breeze blowing in from the North Sea.

But the first act was in Montgomery's trailer. The chief German delegate, Admiral von Friedberg, commander in chief of the German navy, stepped into the trailer to tell the marshal they had decided to accept the terms. He wore a gray, oilskin coat over his naval uniform and he was white-faced and walked stiffly.

ABOVE IS A CLOSEUP of the palm of Adolf Hitler taken 10 years ago when Dr. Josef Banald, world-famous hand scientist, analyzed the hand of the Fuehrer as the "most evil and most destructive hand I have ever read." Believe Hitler Died Last July

By Edward W. Beattie, Jr., United Press War Correspondent PARIS, May 5.—(UP)—I do not know the answer to the mystery of Adolf Hitler, but I can tell you what a good portion of the German people—from front-line troops to village housewives—think about it.

They think he has been dead since July 20, 1944.

They think the bomb plot against Hitler, hatched by German army officers, succeeded. They think Heinrich Himmler and a small group of his henchmen seized control of Germany after July 20 and kept it in the war.

Few Germans believe the story their own propagandists put out—that Hitler died in battle as the Russians closed in against the heart of Berlin. The ones who do believe that are Nazi fanatics who also believe they can go underground and continue the fight against the allies for years.

Farewell Supper Honors Minister

A farewell supper was held at Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Cravers for Rev. and Mrs. E. F. Singhurst. Rev. Singhurst has accepted the pastorate of the Beech Grove Church of The Nazarene. He will take up his new duties there Sunday (P. M.) May the 6th.

The Greencastle church regrets the Singhursts' leaving, but our loss will be the Beech Grove church's gain. As a token of appreciation the church and friends presented to them a lovely desk.

The marvelous supper was enjoyed by members and friends of the Nazarene church, who wish for the Singhursts God's blessings in their new work.

Those present were, Rev. and Mrs. E. F. Singhurst, Stella Crodian, Leslie Cox, Mary Grubb, Mr. and Mrs. James Birt, Geneva Elmore and son Kenneth, Opal Brunner, Marjorie Craver, Roy Craver, Elizabeth Brunner, Mrs. Edith Knight, Myrtle Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Blue, Martha Thompson, Charlotte Thompson, Ardella Wells, Frankie Heckathorn, Myrtle Torr, Anna Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. J. THE THURSDAY Club Meets Rosalie Allen was hostess to the Thursday Club at the monthly meeting on May 3. Fifteen members and two visitors, Mrs. Florence Cox and Mrs. Ethel Smith, were present.

A delicious pitch-in dinner was served at noon. Although the sugar shortage has eliminated the pies and cakes members used to bring, the women prove their good cookery and resourcefulness with tasty substitutes. We could not do the sewing for the Red Cross as planned, Rosalie Allen reporting that the materials were not now available. However, she suggested that members bring woolen materials to make afghans for convalescent soldiers in hospitals, to our next meeting. This was unanimously approved. Plants, bulbs and seeds were exchanged. Hallie Runnels and Marvel Berge were winners of two interesting contests. Averil Allen and Carrie Ziegler were lucky at games. Georgia Miller will be hostess at the next meeting on June 7. Father's Day will be the subject of Roll Call.

COME TO CHURCH SUNDAY

CHURCH FORUM

There are some of the positive things that can be done in bearing sorrow. If it is, one may be able to bear a great grief. Dr. Jones in his little book "When Sorrow Comes" says, "Sorrow has come to you, whether or not you yourself are the cause of it; the cause of suffering and frustration is in your wrong reactions. But you difficulties may come from your own sins, wrong reactions—they may be entirely unmerited. Take your suffering as having a purpose in your life and transfer it to character and content; capitalize your days by entering into sympathy with others who are suffering. Remember God is doing the best for you, and He is making you do with it. God redeems the world through a cross, then I can make my sorrows redemptive—to myself and others. Take what you can make something out of it. It is possible to make a lot of a sorrow. Draw on the resources of God—learn to thank God for your sorrow, though you can not understand it now."

Eliminate Spoilage of Canned Foods

"Eliminate the negative" is a good motto for home canners in 1945, believes Miss Lucile Smith, home demonstration agent, cutting down on the spoilage of canned food accomplishes a saving of food, fuel, time, energy and canning supplies.

While loss of one or two jars of food seems small to the individual homemaker, they add up to a staggering total when losses are figured for a whole community or county. This fact was proven by a survey made during 1944 in one central Indiana county. The 484 representative families surveyed had lost a total of 2,072 quarts of food through spoilage during the year. At this rate of 2 1/3 per cent spoilage, the homemakers of the county would have lost 69,165 quarts of the total 2,958,450 quarts canned during the year.

What loss does this food really represent? Those making the survey say that it could have provided a large part of the year's food supply for some Indiana village. Allowing 130 quarts of food per person as recommended in the Indiana canning budget, this food—if saved—would have fed 531 people. And so, reminds Miss Smith, it is essential to remember that good food and good canning practices "eliminate the negative"—or food spoilage. They make it possible for the home canner to be 100 per cent successful in her home canning. Information on home canning and answers to questions on the subject are available at your home demonstration agent's office.
